JACKSONVILLE, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 15, 1904.

THE TEXT OF JAPAN'S REPLY

DOES NOT CONTAIN AN ULTIMATUM.

Reinsist Upon China's Sovereignty in Manchuria and Japan's Influence in Korea—British Officials Less Hopeful.

London, Jan. 14.—Minister Hayashi received to day the text of the Japanese reply to Russia's last note. It does not contain an ultimatum, but reiterates Japan's original demands, with what Baron Hayashi terms "modification upon minor points." The questions of Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria and Japan's influence in Korea are reinsisted upon.

Hayashi said: "So far as I can see relations of the two powers regarding the dispute are practically unchanged. I have no indication of the reception this note is likely to meet at the hands of the Russian government, but expect negotiations will continue several weeks."

LESS HOPEFUL.

London, Jan. 14.—British foreign office officials said to night after reading the Japanese reply to the last Russian note it only takes the crisis a step further in a less hopeful direction. Advice received by the foreign office made them fear Russia would not accept Japan's reiterated demands.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 14.—"I desire and intend to do all in my power to maintain peace in the far east."

These were the words which the czar spoke to members of the diplomatic corps at the New Year's reception held in the winter palace at noon to day. The czar made a leisurely round of the great white hall with its beautiful colonnades, in which the representatives of the various countries had assembled. His majesty chatted freely with everybody.

Keen curiosity was exhibited all over the room when his majesty approached Kurino, Japanese minister to Russia. The conversation between the czar and the minister was cordial and extended. His majesty emphasized the high value which he places upon good and neighborly relations between Japan and Russia, not only now but in the future, and expressed his unshaken hope that a mutually satisfactory settlement of difficulties between the two countries would be arranged. Kurino left the reception profoundly impressed with his majesty's words.

It has become known here through the foreign office that Count Cassini, Russian ambassador to the United States, had been instructed to assure the United States Russia would not interpose objections to a commercial treaty between China and the United States or impede American rights or interests in Manchuria. His majesty referred to these instructions in a lengthy conversation with Ambassador McCormick and laid much stress on his desire that Russia and the United States should live on terms of intimate and cordial friendship which had existed for so many years and which he especially wishes to maintain. He emphatically disclaimed the slightest inclination to hinder developments of American commerce.

Peking, Jan. 14.—Expectation of war is greatly increased in diplomatic circles here. The German minister now regards war as a probability, although not despairing of settlement at the eleventh hour. Heretofore he had considered war as being only a possibility. One legation has received dispatch from Tokio saying that Foreign Minister Komura Jan. 11 represented to diplomats that he expected peace to be maintained.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 14.—Japanese Minister Kurino informed the Associated Press that the Japanese reply had been handed Baron de Rosen, Russian minister at Tokio, and that he (Kurino) would present Count Lamsdorff, Russian foreign minister, with a duplicate copy. The minister said he was not authorized to state terms of the reply, but that it ensured continuance of negotiations concerning the far east so far as Japan was concerned.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Japanese Minister Takahira to day called on Secretary Hay and informed him that the Japanese reply to the last Russian note was delivered this morning. The reply amounts to a denial of all the important Russian propositions and Japan's counter proposals, it is said, are of a nature that will almost certainly make them unacceptable to Russia. Therefore a most pessimistic view of the future is taken at Tokio.

On the other hand, advice that come to the state department from Paris, St. Petersburg and Berlin are of a pacific character. Ambassador Porter at Paris cables that pressure is to be brought to bear on the would-be belligerents, and particularly Japan, to cause Russia and Japan to come to terms and so avert open hostilities.

The czar also is reported to be extremely desirous of preventing war. Taking these two conflicting sets of advice into consideration, official opinion here is that Japan will not yield to any such pressure.

London, Jan. 14.—A Shanghai correspondent of the Mail reports extensive movements of Chinese troops towards Ching Hai Kwan, probably with a view of securing the harbor of Ching Hai Kwan and coal mines thereabouts against Russian seizure.

The Times Tokyo correspondent says that notwithstanding the continuance of negotiations, steps which Japan is now taking suggest a peaceful issue of the situation is not expected.

CUMMINS INAUGURATED.

Des Moines, Jan. 14.—Albert C. Cummins was inaugurated governor of Iowa for the second time to day, Supreme Court Justice Deemer administering the oath of office. In his inaugural address Cummins paid an eloquent tribute to Iowa's agricultural industries; repeated his declaration in favor of progress in national affairs; declared for strict observance of law and for education in moral rather than in intellectual sense. He advocated advancement in national affairs and declared that a nation either advanced or retrograded. He declared in his judgment men who manipulated combines and trusts were no better than mobs who otherwise desecrated the law. He was outspoken in his advocacy of reciprocity and closed with a plea for early education of boys and girls along lines of morality, declaring upon them rested foundation of sound government.

HAD TO HIKE.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 14.—Devillo P. Ballard, in the receiving barracks at the Marion soldiers' home denounced the erection of monuments to William McKinley. He declared he would "like to see monuments to the Chicago anarchists raised wherever there is a McKinley monument," and that he would "rather contribute to the support of families of Chicago anarchists than to contribute to a memorial to McKinley." He was immediately attacked by those present, but under protection of a file of guards was safely escorted to the gate and succeeded in eluding his pursuers. Ballard was a member of the twenty-third Iowa infantry.

ST. LOUIS BOODLERS

City Officials Accused of Soliciting Bribe From Ticket Brokers.

St. Louis, Jan. 14.—Circuit Attorney Folk was informed to day a representative of a house of delegates combined had solicited a bribe of $10,000 from certain St. Louis ticket brokers to kill the bill lately passed prohibiting scalping of railroad excursion tickets. It is charged delegates voted for the bill in retaliation for refusal of ticket brokers to subscribe to a boudle fund. The grand jury is investigating the charges.

KENTUCKY VOLCANO.

Owingsville, Ky., Jan. 14.—An investigation has been made of the supposed volcano on Sugar Loaf mountain in Rowan county, and it is believed that the smoke which comes from the seven fissures on top of the mountain is caused by a burning coal mine. A strong smell of burning coal is noticeable. There is a large coal field fourteen miles from Sugar Loaf mountain and the coal which is believed to be burning is thought to be an extension of that vein. It is said the smoke has about subsided, but warm steam comes from the fissures.

FAVOR PANAMA CANAL.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 14.—The National Livestock convention to day unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing President Roosevelt's policy relative to construction of the Panama canal.

Resolutions favoring passage of the pure food bill and demanding transfer of control of government reserves from the department of the interior to that of agriculture were passed.

EXPECTS WAR.

Paris, Jan. 14.—Prince Louis Napoleon, who is a major general in the Russian cavalry division, states that he expects to be called to Russia immediately, adding that war is expected by all. He says: "The army does not desire war, but considers it inevitable. It is due to the czar alone that hostilities have not already broken out."

STRIKE RESUMED

The Drivers of Carriages and Hearses in Chicago Again Quit Work.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—The strike ofivery drivers was resumed to day after a truce of fifteen days, following the Iroquois theatre fire. Ninety per cent of the 1,600 drivers of carriages and hearses are said to be out. Failure of employers and employees to agree on a wage scale is the cause of resumption of the strike.

New York, Jan. 14.—President Leeds, of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway, sent a circular to day to stockholders of the company, setting forth that at a meeting to be held March 21 next they will be asked to approve a bond issue not to exceed $100,000,000 bonds, to bear interest at the rate of four per cent and to mature in 1924. Of the total, $15,000,000 are to be used forthwith, the balance to be reserved for retiring various Rock Island bonds and provide funds to the amount of 75 per cent of the purchase price of securities of other companies which may hereafter be acquired by the company, and for cash cost of future improvements or betterments.

HOSTILE TO AMERICANS

Washington, Jan. 14.—The state department to day received a cablegram from United States Minister Allen at Seoul, Corea, stating that Korean newspapers are trying to incite the people against foreigners and especially against American interests.

The department feels these interests can be cared for properly by the United States gunboat Vicksburg and the United States marine guard now in the Korean capital. European nations also have considerable guards, which undoubtedly could be relied on to assist in repressing disorder that might threaten any special foreign interests.

Bloomington, Jan. 14.—The grand lodge of the Modern American Fraternal order, in session at Monticello, elected the following officers:

President—Charles McKucks, Peoria.
Past President—J. A. Lynn, Alton.

Secretary—Treasurer—D. L. Wright, Effingham.

The next meeting will be held in Decatur in 1907.

RIOTING PREDICTED.

London, Jan. 14.—The Seoul correspondent of the Mail says the native press is advocating the slaughter of all the foreigners. United States Minister Allen has ordered all American women and children to remain indoors and he predicts rioting by military imminent.

The French minister has vainly advised the emperor to take refuge in the French legation.

BECHTELS ON TRIAL.

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 14.—Four members of the Bechtel family, Mrs. Catherine Bechtel, daughter Martha and sons John and Charles, were to day placed on trial charged with being accessories after the fact to the murder of Mabel Bechtel.

After consuming almost the entire day selecting a jury the trial of Mrs. Bechtel began. Three witnesses were called to day. Their testimony brought out nothing to tend to prove the commonwealth's contention.

FIRE LOSSES.

Hayre, Montana, Jan. 14.—Fire originating in the Stringfellow drug store to day destroyed three blocks of buildings, causing a loss of $400,000. During the fire thieves plundered the burning or deserted buildings and secured considerable booty. Assistance was called for from Fort Assinaboile and a company was rushed to the city and martial law was declared. It is feared there may be a clash between drunken men and the soldiers who are picketing the town.

TOOK BRIBE MONEY.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 14.—In the trial of former Alderman Ellen, in connection with the water scandal, former City Attorney Salsbury swore he gave Ellen $250 to vote for his re-election as city attorney, that Ellen accepted the money and that another alderman saw Ellen vote for Salsbury.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON

PROCEEDINGS IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

More Discussion on Panama Canal Question—House Votes in Favor of Providing for Expenses of Civil Service Commission.

Washington, Jan. 14.—The senate to day listened to speeches by Newlands and Depew on the Panama canal question and to a speech by Latimer in advocacy of adoption of a plan for improvement of public wagon roads of the country.

Newlands declared the course of the president in Panama was an act of war and in contravention alike of the treaty of 1881, of international law and of the constitution of the United States.

Depew praised the president's policy as patriotic and justified by precedent and law. He reviewed the history of Panama, and detailing facts connected with negotiations of the Hay-Herran treaty, contended Colombia had overreached herself in her rejection of that agreement.

Consideration of postoffice department investigation resolutions was postponed until next Monday.

HOUSE.

The house to day passed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, carrying an aggregate of $23,711,700, and adjourned until Monday next.

The house, by a vote of 83 to 172, refused to sustain the action of the committee of the whole, which yesterday adopted an amendment striking out the paragraph providing for salaries and expenses of the civil service, thus restoring the item to the bill. Amendments adopted in committee, increasing in one instance the salaries of territorial officers in New Mexico and Arizona and reducing the salary of the director of census in another, met similar fates in the house. An amendment to the bill was adopted restricting the use of government horses and carriages to the president, his secretary and cabinet officers.

FULLY INFORMED.

The Japanese minister to the United States department, an abstract of the last Japanese note. Count Cassini, Russian ambassador, on his part, has acquainted the state department verbally, with his custom, with the nature of the Russian note, so the department is fully informed but as both these communications have been made in confidence, officials do not feel they should make any part of them public. It is stated, however, that there has been no substantial change in the Japanese proposition nor the Russian counter proposals, since they were so lucidly set out by the Associated Press in its semi-official dispatch from Peking last week.

DIPLOMATIC DINNER.

The annual dinner to the diplomatic corps was given at the white house by President and Mrs. Roosevelt to night. There was a very large attendance, those present in addition to the guests of honor including senators and representatives who are members of the foreign affairs committee of their respective houses and a number of out of town guests.

NAVAL MILITIA BILL.

The National Association of Naval Militia to day approved what is known as the Hale naval militia bill. The naval militia bill is fashioned after the Dick army militia bill and will put the naval militia upon a footing with the land forces. The militia will be purely state organizations. The naval reserves will be national and will prove a feeder for the regular army.

A favorable report on the nomination of Col. Albert L. Mills, superintendent of the United States military academy, whose nomination to be brigadier general was objected to at a meeting of the senate committee on military affairs to day. It is asserted by senators favoring General Wood's nomination that objection to Mills is part of the movement against Wood and not due to antagonism against Mills. It is understood Mills' nomination will not be taken up until the contest in the Wood case is concluded.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Delegates to the National Association of Naval Militia, which met here to day to frame a basis for legislation to promote naval militia of the country called on President Roosevelt, who greeted them cordially and delivered a brief address on their work.

Failure of the senate in executive session to day to confirm the nominations of Brigadier Generals Kobbe, Sanger, Bates and Randolph to be major generals and then placed on the retired list resulted in circulation of a report that they would not be given their advances in rank before retirement. Members of the military committee disposed of the rumor, however, by a statement that the nominations would be confirmed to morrow. It was declared no opposition had been raised to their confirmation.

Representative Robinson introduced a bill to day for the admission of Oklahoma and Indian territory to the state of Oklahoma.

MANY TO ATTEND

St. Louis Expects 100,000 Visitors During Democratic Convention.

St. Louis, Jan. 14.—It is expected that the Democratic national convention will bring in the neighborhood of 100,000 people to St. Louis and that the visitors in the three days that the convention is expected to last, will spend at least $100,000 in this city.

There will be 1904 delegates and alternates in the convention—a singularly and appropriate number and one that should be easily remembered.

The representation is based upon the number of representatives and senators in congress—two delegates from each congressional district and four from the state at large. Each delegate has an alternate. There are 386 congressional districts and 45 states, which gives a total of 772 congressional district representatives and 189 state representatives, a total of 961 delegates in the convention. There is an equal number of alternates.

In addition there will be numerous marching clubs from the large cities. Tammany, of course, will lead the outside delegations with its special trains and its 1,000 or more braves. The Cook County Marching club from Chicago, is expected to bring almost as many. The Jackson club of Washington, and the Erie County club of Buffalo, will send several hundred and other clubs will come from Cincinnati, Louisville, Kansas City and numerous other cities. It is expected that, with the Jefferson club of St. Louis, there will be at least 20,000 marching men at the convention.

Each state delegation will unquestionably be accompanied by many times its number of convention visitors, including the wives and children of the delegates, all of whom will be bent on seeing the World's fair, as well as the convention.

The next meeting of the World's fair committee on ceremonies, to be held soon, will probably arrange a date during the convention to be known as "convention day," at which special ceremonies on a magnificent scale, will be held for the entertainment of the visitors.

Although the convention is seven months away all of the leading hotels have received applications for rooms from prominent Democrats throughout the country and practically all of the big metropolitan newspapers.

At the Southern hotel a batch of telegrams to reserve rooms was received Tuesday morning.

Manager Weaver, of the Planters' said: "I think we can safely accommodate all applicants, but from present indications the visitors will probably outnumber those at any previous convention. I received about thirty telegrams within the last 24 hours to set aside rooms, but I do not intend to make any reservations for some time yet."

The New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and Washington newspapers have asked for a total of 200 rooms. Members of the national committee, it is said, have decided to quarter at the new Jefferson hotel, Twelfth and Locust streets, which Manager Bay says will be opened not later than March 15. The St. Nicholas hotel has also received a large number of applications.

Joseph W. Griswold, proprietor of the Laclede hotel, said: "We do not expect to accommodate political delegates outside of the state of Missouri. We will have our hands full taking care of the state's delegates."

St. Louis has 100 established hotels, of which 20 per cent are designated as "first class." They have a capacity of 21,000 guests. This does not include the magnificent hotel now being erected inside the exposition grounds for 2,000 persons.

Communication by submarine bell signal was established with this submarine cable, the steamer was some distance from them apparently showing that it is possible to a vessel to signal each other and so avert collision. The submarine bell on the ship was connected with a telephone in the cable. From submarine boats it is possible to signal each other and so avert collision.

THEATRES MAY BE CLOSED SOME TIME

Chicago Aldermen Considering Revision of Building Ordinances—Important Witness Before Fire Inquest.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—From action taken to night by the city council it is evident Chicago theatres will not be able to reopen their doors for some time to come. The meeting of the council was for the purpose of considering revision of the building ordinances and it was generally expected the proposed amendments would be considered and adopted, so that the proprietors of theatres would know what would be demanded of them and would be able to commence alterations at once.

When the measure was called up to night Alderman Mayor moved all amendments be published and the whole subject be taken up when the council was ready. This motion was carried and further consideration of the ordinances postponed, "until the council is ready."

Fifteen churches and a large commercial college were closed to day for violation of the building ordinances and all were placed under police guard until alterations are made. A number of lodging houses were also placed under police guard.

An important witness to day before the Iroquois re inquest was William C. Salter, who was in charge of the fire apparatus at the theatre. The witness testified that if he had been able to reach a hose throwing a fair sized stream of water he would have been able to extinguish the fire at the outset. He further admitted that if there had been a fire alarm box on the stage the fire department would have been inside of the building in less than two minutes and it was more than two minutes after the discovery of the fire that the flames shot out over the audience and the panic commenced.

STARVING INDIANS EAT SQUAW.

Fort Francis, Manitoba, Jan. 14.—An Indian arrived from Nipigon yesterday bringing terrible tales of suffering among Indians north of there. He stated that one family was so hard pressed that they killed one of the squaws who was about 25 years old, and her family ate her. This story was corroborated by several white traders who arrived later Wednesday afternoon.

A relief dog train was made up and has started for the scene with food.

NEW PENSION BILL.

A Measure Proposed to Give all Ninety Day Men a Liberal Grant.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Senator Dooliver, of Iowa, and Representative Calderhead, of Kansas, will to morrow introduce in the senate and house a service pension bill, backed by the Grand Army, which, if enacted into law, will give a pension of $12 a month to every soldier who served ninety days in the union army during the civil war, who was honorably discharged therefrom and who has attained the age of 62. A like pension will be given to widows of such soldiers in all cases where the marriage took place prior to June 27, 1890. The introduction of the bill is the result of a meeting in Washington of the committee on pensions of the Grand Army. The committee had an extended conference with the president during the day and the latter assured them of his entire sympathy in their undertaking. They also talked with Pension Commissioner Ware about their work.

The bill, it is explained, is not designed to interfere with existing pension legislation and it provides in terms that no soldier or widow receiving a pension under its provisions shall be entitled to a pension under any other law.

A Coffee Suggestion.

Here is the latest coffee suggestion; it comes from Aunt Addie, in Brooklyn, says the New York Tribune:

"The best coffee in the world can be ruined by boiling or steeping in a coffee pot that is discolored by long use. The pot should be cleaned at least once a week by putting into it a tablespoonful of washing soda. Fill the pot with water. Let it stand all day on the back of the range; then wash and dry thoroughly. I prefer a cheap tin pot, which I can afford to throw away before it becomes discolored."

How to Stew Prunes.

A prize recipe for plain stewed prunes has been developed in response to a competition started by a California fruit growing association. As it was selected from those of many competitors, it may be supposed to represent the perfected process of serving this useful fruit in the simplest way. Wash one pound of prunes in several waters, nearly cover with water and let stand overnight. Then simmer on the back of the stove until tender. Just before removing from the stove add a large tablespoonful of sugar.

How to Cut a Bottle.

A bottle may be cut off by wrapping a cord saturated in coal oil around it several times, then setting fire to the cord and just when it has finished burning plunging the bottle into cold water and tapping on one end to break. Oddly shaped or prettily colored bottles make good vases. The top of a large bottle having a small neck makes a good funnel. Large round bottles make good jelly glasses. Sheet glass may be cut in the same way when one has no glass cutter. Good House.

In looking over some old letters and papers recently Capt. Smith, of the Dunlap house, came across a letter written him by Gen. John A. Logan in 1881. The handwriting was evidently that of a lady, probably Mrs. Logan, and was signed in the general's well known manner. Naturally the captain values the missive very highly and he served for a time at the headquarters of the famous chieftain.

COURT OF HONOR HOME.

The Court of Honor supreme or national officers are just getting settled in their new home which has been under course of construction at Second and Adams streets in Springfield. The large house which was bought by the supreme court some time ago has been remodeled and refitted and now has a handsome and commodious interior.

The building is the headquarters for 80,000 members of the order who are scattered over fifteen states and territories. At the last meeting of the supreme court in Kansas City the home was decided upon and Springfield was selected as the place for the building.

When the present building is entirely completed it will present some of the most attractive office rooms in the city. The rooms are all fitted up with costly furnishings and some of them are even luxurious. On the ground floor there are five large rooms including the general work room, the supreme recorder's room and others. On the second floor is the room that is to be the most costly of all. It is the committee room for the different courts in the city. The six courts in Springfield have united in raising a fund to make this one room for the use of the joint committees the most attractive in the whole building. The room is not yet completed but it will be in a few days.

THE CENTENARY REVIVAL.

Last evening a congregation almost filling the Sunday school room gathered to participate in the gospel meeting now being held at Centenary church. Dr. George E. Scrimmer preached. His ministrations was with the power and unction of the spirit. There was evidence of the spirit's power quietly working to bring sinners to penitence and the backsliders to return to their Master. An after service altar was found convenient for one who had lingered. Rev. N. English of the Jacksonville circuit will preach this evening.

A HARD JOB.

A while back a tramp applied to a man for something to eat and a place to sleep and instead the gentleman proceeded to ask him a lot of questions regarding his history, manner of life, habits, etc., and wound up with a lot of good advice. Then he said:

"Where did you last work?"
 "East St. Louis."
 "What made you quit?"
 "Couldn't hold the job any longer."
 "What did you get?"
 "Ninety dollars a month."
 "And gave it up?"
 "Yes."
 "What made you do that?"
 "Couldn't hold it any longer and you couldn't hold it at all."
 "How so?"
 "I got forty for minding my own business and fifty for letting other people mind theirs."

THE BATTLE OF PRAGUE.

"The Battle of Prague" must have been popular as an instrumental pianoforte selection in the early part of the late Queen Victoria's reign since the love-lorn youths of England's romantic nineteenth century demanded its rendition. In "Rosemary," which Howard Kyle will present at the Grand Opera house on Wednesday, Jan. 20, the popular music of the period has much to do with the unfolding of the pretty story by Louis N. Parker and Murray Carson, which Chas. Froman kept at the Empire theatre, New York, one entire season.

ENJOYED A SLEIGH RIDE.

One of the most delightful mid-winter outings was the senior-sophomore sleigh ride yesterday afternoon. The juniors claim to be the first class enjoying a ride in 1904, but the seniors and sophomores were fully an hour ahead. After riding about town the three large sleds bearing the two classes were driven to the home of Mrs. W. H. Rowe, northwest of town, where a delicious supper was served. Games and recitations made the time pass all too rapidly and when the hour came for the return trip all felt that the pleasure of the senior-sophomore ride would linger long in memory.

THE TOWN OF TALLULA.

The town of Tallula, in Menard county is situated twenty-five miles northeast from Jacksonville and thirty miles southeast from Mason City, on the Kansas City branch of the C. & A. railroad. There are at present about 800 inhabitants. The Postmaster is C. W. Calloway, assistant Miss Martha M. Robertson. One rural route of twenty-five miles serves ninety families; J. J. Spears, carrier. There are four churches, one graded school of four rooms, with L. E. Shaw as principal; one drug store, three general stores, one meat market, one clothing store, two harness shops, three blacksmiths, one livery, one plumber, one hardware, one restaurant, one millinery, two barber shops, one elevator, one bank, one opera house; one telephone exchange with 300 subscribers, one tile factory, two saloons, three physicians. There are two hotels. The Young hotel was opened on the first day of January, 1904, quite modern in conveniences. One coal mine is in the town. The local freight crows from Bloomington and Roodhouse make this place their terminal. The railroad company has a reservoir here of thirteen acres in extent and the drain age of 600 acres empty into it. A dam forty feet high and sixty rods long confines the water between two hills. The water at the dam is twenty-five feet deep. A modern coal elevator raises into a bin which rests upon a huge scale seventy tons of coal, from which the engines are furnished coal as required, and the automatic register states the amount of coal that each engine orders. A stationary engine in this elevator pumps water into a large tank from the reservoir and one man, J. T. Bell, manages both elevator and pumps.

STOP IT.

A neglected cough or cold may lead to serious bronchial or lung troubles. Don't take chances when Foley's Honey and Tar affords perfect security from serious effects of a cold. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

WEDS HIS STEPMOTHER.

Taylorville, Jan. 14.—Jerome Rusher, of Mt. Auburn, and a son of the late Master-son Rusher, who was found dead in a corn field near Edinburg some time ago, has married his stepmother, Mrs. Master-son Rusher. They were married outside of this county, but the exact place cannot be ascertained. Jerome is about 25 years of age and is a harness maker of Mt. Auburn, and Mrs. Rusher is a woman of 45.

During the search for the elder Rusher, who was quite an old man, some suspicion was attached to the wife and son when the body was found after three weeks of exposure, but the coroner's inquest returned a verdict that he came to his death from causes unknown to the jury. These suspicions, which had not yet entirely died out, were renewed to day when it was learned that the son and stepmother had been married.

IN BED FOUR WEEKS WITH LA GRIPE.

We have received the following letter from Roy Kemp, of Angola, Ind.: "I was in bed four weeks with la grippe and I tried many remedies and spent considerable for treatment with physicians, but I received no relief until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar. Two small bottles of this medicine cured me and now I use it exclusively in my family." Take no substitute. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

SCARED TO DEATH.

Norris City, Ill., Jan. 14.—Peter Kuhn, a farmer 54 years old, was literally scared to death at his home by practical jokes. He was always supposed to be a man of robust health and the sudden death, it is declared, was an outcome of the prank never dreamed of by the jokers.

Kuhn, it seems, was a firm believer in ghosts. Last Friday night several young men of the neighborhood, in order to perpetrate a joke on the old man, climbed upon his house and fastened a nail in a shingle, to which they tied a string and a tin can. By rubbing a piece of resin over the string an unearthly noise was made, which so frightened Kuhn that he fell from his chair in a fit and expired before medical assistance could be secured. He leaves a wife and three children.

A LIFE AT STAKE.

If you but know the splendid merit of Foley's Honey and Tar you would never be without it. A dose or two will prevent an attack of pneumonia or la grippe. It may save your life. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

MATRIMONIAL RECORD.

FISH-SCOTT.

In the presence of a limited company of relatives and intimate friends Miss Anna Scott became the bride of Mr. Joseph E. Fish Thursday evening. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, of 800 East College avenue, and the vows were received by Dr. J. R. Harker, president of the Woman's college.

The bridal couple, attended by Miss Minnie Brown and Mr. Wilbur Johnson, and preceded by Miss Ruth Harker, who carried the ring on a golden tray, entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, skillfully played by Mrs. J. E. Scott, of Springfield, a sister-in-law of the bride. They took their positions beneath a beautiful decorated arch in colors of green and white, the work of Mr. Lloyd Reid, and Dr. Harker said the solemn service which made them man and wife in a happy and impressive manner. During the ceremony Mr. Arthur Scott, brother of the bride, sang "Hearts and Flowers."

The bride was gowned in a handsomely made dress of white organdie, trimmed in medallion lace of autumn leaf pattern, and wore a bridal veil which was fastened with a gold pin set with pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried bride's roses. The maid of honor was prettily attired in a gown of white organdie over green, trimmed in medallion lace and insertion. She carried carnations. The ring bearer wore a delicate little gown of white organdie.

The bride is a young lady of many graces of character and personal charms and until recently has been employed as a saleslady at Phelps & Osborn's. Her personal popularity is attested by a wide circle of friends. The groom has been employed in the composing room of the Journal office for a number of years and is a young man of integrity and industry who has ever merited the confidence of his employers and friends.

After the words of hearty congratulation and best wishes had been extended refreshments were served in the dining room. Here the decorations were in red and white and streamers in these colors were artistically draped and extended from the chandelier to the four corners of the table, in the center of which was the bride's cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Fish were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, tokens of friendship that will ever be cherished. They departed on the 1:20 Wabash train for Dayton, Ohio, and before their return to this city will visit in Chicago, Bloomington, Springfield and Beardstown.

Those present from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Scott, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Fish, Chicago; Miss Eugenia Banta, Chicago; John E. Fish, Jefferson City, Mo.; Charles Fish, Beardstown; Mrs. Charles Huffman and son Roscoe, Virginia; Mrs. J. Bert McClure, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirk, Russellville, Ill.

From Germany comes news of a locomotive worked by steam and yet independent of fire of its own. The engine has just been completed at the Hohenzollern works at Dusseldorf and is of a type designed for shunting in explosive factories. Instead of carrying fire in its own boiler it is filled with steam from stationary boilers and when so charged is capable of several hours' work. The first warming up occupies half an hour, and subsequent recharging can be done in a quarter of an hour. The apparatus is so simple that an unskilled workman is able to look after it. The absence of fire in a place where dynamite or gunpowder is being handled is the reason for the invention of this type of engine.

A Night With Jack Frost.

Jack Frost ran away down the meadows, Froth through the valleys and over the hills. And he chanted a chilly "Good evening, old friends!"

As he kissed the cold rivers and rills.
He colored the oaks and the maples
With a pencil most rare and divine
Till hues iridescent he gave them to wear
And etchings too quaint to define.

He chuckled with ghoulish expression,
Striding swift o'er the flower fringed path:
He nipped all the blossoms with merciless hand
And a seeming insatiable wrath—
He cast o'er the green sumach bushes
A sense of unpeppable dread,
But when he awoke to the bright morning sun
Their leaves were a beautiful red.

He sang to the bogs and the sedges
In a frozen and guttural tone:
He spoke to the pool with his frigid white lips
And a heart as cold as a stone.

He blared through his long hoary whiskers
A decadent and rasping refrain:
He shook out his locks to the fierce northern blast
As he whitened the mist and the rain.

He skipped o'er the panes of the windows,
Leaving pictures unique in his trail:
He breathed on the lake till its surface grew hard
Then rattled his showers of hail.

He leaped to the eaves and the trickles
Transformed into pendulous spires,
Then sent the soft snowflakes to blanket the earth,
While the snow thrummed on his lyres.

He came to the cheeks of the lame
And smacked them a glorious pink:
He told her of sledges and thins of bells,
With a twinkle and significant wink.

He returned to his home in the morning
Where he stroked his great whiskers
And for the marvels he'd wrought in Luna's pale light
Were wonderful truly to see.

SHEET METAL WORK

Slate Roofing, Furnace Work,
Tin Roofing, Spouting, Guttering and General Job
Work and Metal
Ceilings.

Although a comparatively new comer in Jacksonville, Oscar Faugust has won a reputation which has brought him a great deal of work and in all cases each job has made him a fast friend. His shop is on North Sandy street, second door from the square, and it is always a busy place. He has contracts from many sources and though not wishing to boast of what he has done nor to mention nearly all of them, he refers to a few which may be taken as a sample of many more.

Metal ceiling in postoffice.
Work in bank of F. G. Farrell & Co.

Residence of F. H. Rowe, West State street.
Slate, tin, furnace, etc., Mr. Foster, at Alexander.

Slate and tin work on new house of R. W. Emmerson, near Sinclair. All of these and a great many more show thorough workmanship, excellent judgment and a man who understands his business. In metal ceilings Mr. Faugust excels, as he has put in many of them and knows how they should be made and placed in position. All kinds of galvanized iron work, tanks, gutters, down spouts and in fact everything pertaining to the business is done by him and his skilled force of workmen. Mr. Faugust himself personally sees to all of his contracts, and being a superior mechanic, what he does needs no going over to see that it is all right.

Anything in his line entrusted to him will receive the most careful attention and be done in the most workman-like manner. He is equipped with the best tools and machines and handles none but the best materials so that he knows when he undertakes a piece of work what he will do and will do it right.

The World's Coal.

Of an estimated coal area of about 4,650,000 square miles in the world China is credited with 4,000,000 square miles. The United States has about 280,000 square miles; Great Britain, 119,000 miles; Germany, 1,770 miles; France, 2,086 miles, and Belgium, 510 square miles. Area is not, however, a true measure of value. The anthracite fields of Pennsylvania include an area of only 468 square miles, but these are undoubtedly of more value than any coal area of like extent anywhere in the world.

A Delayed "Taking."

One of the doctors of West Franklyn, Me., who was making a free vaccination tour, called at a house and inquired of the lady in charge if she wished to be vaccinated. "No. I was vaccinated forty years ago, and it did not take until two years ago. I think that I am fully protected."

TONGUE TIED ORATOR

A Story Told to Illustrate a Valuable Every Day Fact.

"To illustrate a point I wish to make," said Mr. L. P. Allcott, the well known druggist, "let me tell you of an orator who had the most successful eloquence of any man I ever knew. Yet he had a great misfortune. He was tongue-tied, and when he got up to make a speech he would stammer and stutter and nally have to sit down. Yet about one in five or six times his trouble would vanish, and then I tell you he was simply grand."

"Now, my point is this: Old fashioned cod liver oil is like that orator. Once in a great many cases it does immense good, but oftener than not the sticky, nasty oil or the unwholesome materials used to make it into an emulsion so inferior with digestion that all its medicinal value is lost. Yet we know genuine strength-building curatives are enveloped in the oil.

How shall we get these valuable health-building, medicinal elements without taking the oil also? That question was answered by the two great French chemists, Gautier and Mourguet, who gave to the world their great discovery of separating the curative medicinal elements always known to exist in the cod's liver, from the oil or useless part.

The produce is known as Vinol—which actually contains all that is medicinal in good cod liver oil, without a drop of oil or any disagreeable feature—thus producing the grandest tonic reconstructor known to medicine. Vinol is now making remarkable cures as a tonic and restorative where old-fashioned cod liver oil failed. We guarantee it to make strength for the weak, vitalize the old, cure coughs, hanging on colds and bronchitis. If it does not, it won't cost you a cent to try it." Lee P. Allcott, druggist.

Our January Sales Increase in Importance Each Year

It would be unnatural if it were otherwise. Every experience and every achievement makes it possible to go further. What was considered well nigh perfection last year has been found to be but one of the milestones along the way. The past twelve months' thoughtful work in the light of the experience of former years could only surpass previous efforts. Progress in merchandising means better assortments, better materials, better designs, larger operations and more attractive prices. It is no idle claim that these have been embodied in our January sales preparations.

FUNERALS.

JOHNSON.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Barbara Johnson was held at the Methodist church in Arcadia Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. The deceased had been so long a resident of the county and was so widely known that the attendance was very large. Dr. W. F. Short, who had known Mrs. Johnson from his youth up, was in charge of the services and preached a very strong and appropriate sermon from the text, Psalms cxv:15, "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saints."

Dr. Short spoke of the large contribution Mrs. Johnson had made toward the cause of right. He referred to the fact that she had seen almost all of the last century, the greatest in the history of the world. "During this century," he said, "nearly every great philanthropic enterprise of the churches was inaugurated and there has been a like development in other lines."

The church choir sang several suitable hymns and after the church service the body was laid to rest in the cemetery nearby. Grandsons of the deceased were the bearers.

AT THE GRAND

Program of Popular Music Given by Brooke's Famous Band.

Thomas Preston Brooke and his famous Chicago Marine band appeared at the opera house last night. The program was one by no means classical, in fact, just the opposite, and the audience was thoroughly delighted with the rag-time music. Mr. Brooke is certainly a great conductor and the large company of musicians he has gathered about him are under perfect control. Miss Reid, the vocalist, has a soprano of bird-like quality and her selections were well received. Nearly every number was encored and the evening as a whole was very enjoyable. The program follows:

Some Cented Rags—From the Sultan of SuluWathall
A Little Rag for the Trombone—"Stay in Your Own Back Yard"Udall
Mr. James Cooper.
A Minnehaha Raglet—"Laughing Water" (new)Hager
A Rag Time Song for Cornet—"Dashed Betsey Brown"Eller
Mr. Bert Brown.
Rags Picked Up by the "Wizard of Oz"Tietjens
A Rag Time Overture—"From the Sleeping Beauty and the Beast"Chattaway

MEET WITH SUCCESS.

Dr. A. B. Morey has received the following from Mr. Butts, who is soon to come to Jacksonville to assist in the union revival meeting:

"We are in the midst of a wonderful awakening here in Hutchinson, Kan. Hundreds were turned away at the Sunday services. I will probably arrive late on the evening of the 20th. I believe God is on the giving hand this winter and look for a splendid work in your midst. Sincerely yours, B. F. Butts."

GALLAUDET CLUB.

The Gallaudet club celebrated the anniversary of its foundation with a banquet at its rooms on South Main street last night. This club is composed of a score or more of our deaf citizens and exerts commendable interest in the behalf of their affairs. An elaborate menu was served under the supervision of Messrs. Cranwill and Harper. Toasts were responded to and a good time generally was had. The officers are: E. Tilton, president; Ph. Jacoby, vice president; Hiram Huff, secretary.

A PLEASANT EVENT.

The young people of Franklin held a social ball in the opera house Wednesday evening. About thirty couples were present from the town and surrounding country. A feature of the evening was a waltz contest the first prize in which was awarded to Miss Birdie Harmon and George Woods. The music was furnished by Tongate's orchestra.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

At the country home of Edward F. Seymour, three miles west of Franklin, Wednesday evening, Jan. 13, 1904, occurred one of the most pleasant events of the season. The date being the sixteenth birthday of their son, Lora, a party was given in his honor. The assemblage consisted of about thirty of Lora's young friends and associates together with several relatives and neighbors of an older class.

The early part of the evening was spent in social games, after which all were invited to the dining room to partake of the refreshments prepared by Mrs. Seymour, whose success in this line is too well known to need any words of comment.

The company adjourned to their various homes at a late hour, feeling that they had been courteously treated and highly entertained and wishing Lora many happy returns of the day.

PUBLIC SALE.

Ed Reynolds and William McCurley held a public sale Thursday, two miles east of Woodson, which was largely attended, there being representatives from Modesto, Franklin, Murrayville, Manchester, Waverly, Winchester, Nortonville, Pisgah, Roodhouse, Woodson and Jacksonville. Bidding on all articles was spirited and good prices resulted.

Corn sold from 38½ to 40c per bushel; oats from 36½ to 37c per bushel; two year old steers, $43.00; yearling steers, $32; heifers, $28; sheep, $5; sows, $15 to $22; horses, $15; sucking colts, $91; mules, $276 to $325 a span. Total of all sales amounted to $5,285. Capt. J. E. Wright was auctioneer and M. J. Clerihan, clerk.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The junior department will give a masquerade social Tuesday night, Jan. 26, for the juniors and members of the B. G. M.

Last night the Intermediates and Working Boys played a ten-inning game of indoor base ball. The score was tied in the eighth inning and no more runs were made until the Intermediates succeeded in scoring another in the tenth, making the score 19 to 18 in their favor. The game was hotly contested throughout and some good playing was done by both teams. The same teams play again next Thursday night. Battery for the Intermediates was Peckham and Large; for the Working Boys, Flynn and German.

MISSIONARY MEETING.

The Foreign Missionary society of Point church met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Peter Vasey. A splendid dinner was served by the hostess and was greatly appreciated by every one present. "The World for Christ" was the topic for the afternoon, and it was discussed generally. Mrs. C. F. Baker read a helpful paper on "How and Where Shall I Serve?" Rev. Robert Stephens, presiding elder of the district, made an interesting address. The meeting was a very enjoyable one in all particulars.

STREET RAILWAY CASE.

The continued street railway case was taken up in Squire Gray's court Thursday. The attorneys for the defense entered a motion to dismiss on the ground that the vestibule law is unconstitutional, from the fact that it is class legislation. The arguments occupied most of the morning. At the conclusion Squire Gray took the matter under advisement until Tuesday, Jan. 19.

EUCHRE CLUB.

Mrs. George E. Mathews and Mrs. J. Thompson Sharpe entertained the West Side Euchre club very handsomely last evening at the Mathews home on Webster avenue.

PHYSICIANS GATHERED

SIXTH COUNCIL DISTRICT IN SESSION

Ten Counties Represented—Principal Addresses Delivered by Drs. McCormack and Patrick—Banquet at the Pacific.

The meeting of the physicians of the sixth councilor district was held Thursday under the auspices of the Morgan County Medical society and was a pronounced success.

The program in the afternoon was carried out as published in the assembly room of the public library and sixty-two physicians, representing ten of the fourteen counties in the district, were present in addition to a number of visitors. Dr. L. J. Harvey, of Griggsville, councilor of the district, presided and the papers presented and addresses made were of intense practical value.

At 4:30 the physicians adjourned to the Central Insane hospital, where they were the guests of the hospital staff and were also entertained at a luncheon. They were shown over the entire institution and those who assisted in their entertainment were Mrs. H. C. Carriel, wife of Superintendent Carriel; Dr. E. L. Crouch, acting superintendent, and Mrs. Crouch, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Cole, Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Clappitt, Dr. and Mrs. Peters and Mrs. C. E. Dickson.

THE BANQUET.

The banquet at the Pacific hotel was a grand success and about sixty guests sat down at the elegantly decorated tables and a sumptuous menu was faultlessly served. There were three tables, including the speakers', and on each was a beautiful floral centerpiece and at each end of the tables were fragrant flowers. Carnations and fern leaves were used principally in the decorations, which were arranged with artistic taste.

Dr. F. P. Norbury, president of the Morgan County society, presided at the banquet and introduced Rev. A. B. Morey, who invoked the divine blessing.

After the guests had dined Dr. J. M. McCormick, of Bowling Green, Ky., national organizer of the American Medical society, was presented and an outline of his splendid address on the subject, "Medical Organization," is given:

"This vital subject is one that is at present engaging the attention of the most thoughtful minds in our profession. Of the 120,000 physicians in this country only 20,000, or one-fourth, are members of an organized association. The evils growing out of such a condition are far too many to admit of recitation at this time. I can only touch on one or two phases of this question. Some of the dangerous results of this state of affairs is the continued inculcation of jealousy among physicians, destroying thereby the confidence of the public in our calling and also keeping in ignorance the fiscal authorities of municipal, county and state commonwealths.

"This curse of envy and jealousy has hung over our profession like a pall and has blighted its influence in an untold manner. Lack of organization and co-operation has resulted in lack of proper medical legislation and the physicians themselves are the ones to blame for this state of affairs. I am aware that it is accredited to us that we have peculiar conditions existing in Kentucky, but I find that in this respect we have company in the states ranging from Maine to California, with the possible exception of Alabama. These conditions are of long standing and are not to be easily removed.

"The doctors in a community do exemplify Christian charity in their daily practice more than all the religious institutions and pastors in a community. This fact is easily understood if one will but follow a physician in his daily rounds and in his office work and see the duties that come to hand and from which there is no shirking. These religious institutions—and I hope every physician here is affiliated with some one of them—however, are the greatest inspiration to us, and the minister and the doctor must work together in harmony, not in antagonism.

"It is true, but it ought not to be, that half of the doctors in a community cannot live at peace with the other half. The medical college and its training is largely responsible for this condition and I hope the curriculum will be so changed as to remedy this glaring defect in medical education. The source of this evil must be reached before a remedy can be effected, and the source is the medical college. The profession of the clergy before the days of ministerial associations, strange to say, was no better.

"By strenuous efforts the relations of physicians in Chicago and Kansas City are model, but outside of these two great centers and in the intermediate cities, villages and hamlets unfilled for conditions exist to mar progress and impede the growth of the profession and the individual practitioner.

"The clergy furnish the cause for most of the quackery found, and why? The human mind never apprehends what it receives for nothing.

GREAT TRAGEDY OF 1903

Collapse of J. Pierpont Morgan's
Prestige as Trust Builder.

J. D. ROCKEFELLER HIS NEMESIS.

One Year Ago, at the Zenith of His Power, Morgan Was Regarded as the Marvel of the Age, Heart, Soul and Body of the New Finance Which Was to Control the World's Industries—Thousands Financially Ruined by His Enterprises.

No event of the year equals in genuine importance the downfall of John Pierpont Morgan from the most powerful position ever attained by a private citizen of the United States or any other country—a position he occupied a year ago, when he was at the zenith of his career as a builder of trusts world wide in their operation, says the New York World. The downfall of Charles M. Schwab, of much lesser import, is still so great that in itself it marks an epoch in the history of American industrialism.

And the part which John D. Rockefeller has played in the tragedy of Morgan and Schwab, when all of its details become fully known, promises to mark the crowning achievement of a career that has never been blocked in any of its wide reaching ramifications by the genius or power of any man or set of men.

Enough is known of what Mr. Rockefeller has done to make it plain that the collapse of Mr. Morgan's colossal power and prestige was necessary to a realization of Mr. Rockefeller's ambition. Whether the downfall of Mr. Morgan was planned and brought about by careful manipulations, such as Mr. Rockefeller employed thirty years ago to destroy rival oil refiners in Cleveland, or whether a train of circumstances, unfortunate to Mr. Morgan, but inevitable under the laws of finance, after all, were simply seized upon as a means to gain an important end is not quite clear yet.

A year ago Mr. Morgan was regarded not only in the United States, but in Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Russia and in every corner of the world where men of commerce gathered, as the real fount of business wisdom. He was a genius, the like of which the world had never before produced or seen. He had the magic faculty of extracting millions in profits from things that had escaped the attention of the wise financiers of all the previous generations and centuries. All that he had to say to the great capitalists and investors of the world was:

"This thing is good. You can come into it" and without question or investigation, so complete was their reliance upon the wisdom of the American king of finance, they offered another for a chance to pour their millions into the enterprise.

A year ago the newspapers of the United States and Europe referred to Mr. Morgan in this wise:

He is a greater power in Europe than many of its kings.
He has completely eclipsed the Rothschilds.
His name is a talisman with which to conjure not millions, but billions.
He wields more power over more people than the czar of Russia.
He is sought by emperors and kings.
The greatest name in all history.
He has more influence than the president of the United States.
The most important man in the world today.
He controls more capital than any other man in the universe.

In a single business day he could fill a subscription for $500,000,000 for any enterprise he would inaugurate and would not be asked even to explain it.

Contrast these opinions of a year ago of Mr. Morgan with those expressed today, and some comprehension of his mighty fall from an unheard of financial eminence can be had. Not long ago a cablegram from London stated that Morgan's name was anathema among the English financiers and investors who twelve months ago had regarded him as the greatest genius of the age. A man of high standing in Wall street when asked as to Mr. Morgan's present status downtown said:

"He couldn't sell five dollar gold pieces for $4."

That, of course, was an extravagant way of putting it, but it exhibits the general temper of the downtown district. Why such a mighty revolution in the public standing of a man?

Sifted down, the naked result is that within the past year countless men and women have lost their fortunes in Morgan enterprises. Not only private investors, the outside public, but great institutions, trust companies, banks, insurance companies, their presidents, directors and other officers, have seen great sums of their money shrink and fade away into shadows.

These losses would doubtless have been taken with more equanimity but for the exposures in the investigation of the United States Shipbuilding company scandal, which have created something more than a suspicion throughout the financial district that Mr. Morgan's firm may have employed the same methods in the United States Steel corporation and the International Mercantile Marine (the Atlantic Steamship trust) that were uncovered by the shipyard investigation. And in this connection it should be said that some hold the belief that the shipyard investigation is only part of a huge subterranean engine devised and constructed in the inner office of John D. Rockefeller to pull down Mr. Morgan from his dazzling pinnacle and grind his reputation into dust.

These great blows were struck at Mr. Morgan during the year just closed. They were the final blows, as they showed that his highly exalted judgment in launching new enterprises was at least as faulty as other men's. Some people do not content themselves with saying that Mr. Morgan merely committed errors of judgment in creating such imaginary enterprises as the Steel corporation and the Mercantile Marine, asserting that he was actuated solely by the motive to gather into his own strong boxes every available dollar held by the public.

In any event he had created two vast, capitalized corporations, into which large investors and the public both here and in Europe placed their money, relying chiefly upon his judgment. They bought Steel preferred around 90 and Steel common between 40 and 60. They saw the former go to 50 and the latter to 10. They bought Mercantile Marine preferred around 60 and the common around 20. They saw the former go to 10% and the latter to 8. The Mercantile Marine bonds, $50,000,000 of the $75,000,000 issue, were taken by Mr. Morgan's financial friends here and abroad at 90. These bonds have a nominal value now of 75. At times when efforts have been made to sell them, the best bid that could be got was 30.

A smaller matter, but one that injured Mr. Morgan in the opinion of many New York capitalists, was the Sheldon syndicate he had organized in the shipbuilding company, $40,000,000 to take over shipbuilding company bonds at 70. These have a nominal value now of about 14, but no large amount of them can be marketed at that price. There is no market at all for large quantities. The subscribers to this syndicate are large banking firms and individual capitalists, such as E. H. Harriman, George Gould, Perry Belmont, Stuyvesant Fish and others, who are not in the habit of losing hundreds of thousands of their own money. British and European investors lost little or nothing in the shipbuilding company, but they did lose heavily in the Steel corporation and the Mercantile Marine company. These foreign losses account in a measure for the feeling of hostility for Mr. Morgan abroad.

Another matter which has irritated the losers in the Morgan ventures is that neither Mr. Morgan himself nor his firm has lost any money. He is probably richer by millions of dollars today than he was a year ago, as far as money goes, no matter how much he has lost in reputation.

It has never been Mr. Morgan's policy to tie up his own money or that of his firm in any of his enterprises. He has always used the money of other people, keeping his own assets in liquid shape, so that they are ready for any emergency.

His great strength and power rested not in his own wealth, but in his ability to get capitalists all over the world to put up money for anything that he said was "good." Therefore his loss of prestige, the proof established by the collapse in value of the Steel and Mercantile Marine securities that his judgment was anything but faultless, and the suspicions aroused by the shipyard inquiry have erected a barrier between Mr. Morgan and the capital he has always relied upon that may prove insurmountable.

Mr. Morgan is not a young man by any means. He will be sixty-seven years old on April 17 next. It took forty-five years of incessant labor and almost unbroken successes to place him upon the heights of fame, which he occupied a year ago. Not only has Mr. Morgan been blamed directly for losses sustained in corporations that were peculiarly his own, but he has been held responsible for the general big shrinkage in the value of all kinds of securities.

The Wall street grievances against him may be summed up as follows:

First.—That he greatly overdid the promotion business.

Second.—That he set an example in overcapitalization which was imitated by others, producing a flood of securities that had nothing to stand on when trade conditions began to go back.

Third.—That he created conditions which made the whole market for securities vulnerable and invited the bear raids which proved so disastrous to prices during last spring and summer.

Fourth.—That he was the originator of the new school of "high finance" which is now so completely discredited.

Fifth.—That his judgment of the public's capacity to absorb new securities was completely at fault.

Sixth.—That his judgment of the trade future and the amount of shares and bonds that the steel and other corporations could reasonably stand was also very much at fault.

Seventh.—That his failure to live up to the high reputation he had established had worked an injury which would take years for investors to forget, and had done almost irreparable harm to American investments in foreign centers.

A study of the achievements of Mr. Morgan makes two facts glaringly apparent—namely:

First.—That as a reorganizer he has known nothing but success.

Second.—That as an organizer he has never made a brilliant success.

In other words, he has the faculty of detecting and correcting the blunders and mistakes of other men, but this same faculty has not saved him from committing the same blunders.

Mr. Morgan made his reputation as a builder up of broken down railroads. He contented himself for over thirty years with that kind of labor before he embarked upon the new field of organizing industries. Some years ago, when his fame for reorganization was at its height, the Wall street term for the work was "re-Morganization."

While practically every industrial organization Mr. Morgan has created is a failure from the viewpoint of the stockholder and the bondholder, it should not be forgotten that a dozen of the big railroads and the bondholders, it should not be forgotten that a dozen of the big railroads owe their prosperity to his brain and genius. And in building up these railroads, properties, taking hold of them and making them pay, he has made much money for himself and his associates.

These great blows were struck at Mr. Morgan during the year just closed. They were the final blows, as they showed that his highly exalted judgment

CLUB FOR DOMESTICS

A Chicago Suburb's Plan to Solve Servant Girl Problem.

EVANSTON WOMEN ORGANIZERS.

Proposed Building Will Be Equipped With Reading Rooms, a Gymnasium, a Swimming Pool and a Ballroom—Mrs. John Parry Johnston, Leader of the Movement.

Classic Evanston, Ill., is to have a servant girls' club.

Within a year visitors to the north shore suburb of Chicago will find there a building completely fitted out as a modern clubhouse which will be reserved entirely for the accommodation of cooks, chambermaids and nurses and their friends. The equipment will include reading rooms, gymnasium, a swimming pool and a ballroom. Here the household servants of the suburb will gather in their leisure hours and amuse themselves in ways which are at present available only to their employers, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

This is the solution of the servant girl problem which will be tried in the near future. The first steps toward this end have already been taken by several prominent clubwomen. They have organized a servant girls' club, or rather "house girls," as they prefer, to call the women employed in their homes, and have given it the title of "The White Aprons." The membership is at present limited to about thirty, but applications for entrance are pouring in, and the number will be enlarged.

Until steps are taken to provide the organization with rooms of its own the clubwomen who are supporting the plan will throw open their own parlors at regular intervals for the meetings of the society. The first regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. John Parry Johnston of 2018 Orrington avenue. During the first part of the evening an open discussion was held upon the subject, "The Making of Ice Cream," which was later demonstrated by Mrs. Johnston, who followed a favorite recipe of her own. Later the girls sang, danced and practiced various gymnastic feats. In this part of the entertainment the hostess was assisted by Miss Mabel May Heren, a senior in Northwestern university, who instructed the girls in dancing and gymnastic drill.

Mrs. Johnston, who is at the head of the movement, is a student of the servant girl problem and is taking advance work in the department of sociology in the local university. She has participated in several former experiments of the same nature and was vice president of the Pittsburgh Servant Girls' association. She was also secretary of the New York Kindergarten society, of which Mrs. Jay Gould was president. Later she was London correspondent for one of the New York papers. While in England she made a special study of the English method of handling servants.

"It was there," said Mrs. Johnston, "that I developed my strong sentiments upon the subject. When I saw the mayor of London present graduate certificates to several hundred girls from a servants' school, with almost the dignity of a professional degree, I realized that we across the water must cease to look down upon our household employees. We complain of their lack of refinement, and yet we give them no chance to come, within refining influences. My idea is a good sized clubhouse where they can meet to enjoy themselves, discuss their problems and develop themselves mentally and physically."

Francis Wilson Says All Domestic Should Be Gentle Incitatives. Theatrical people in Philadelphia are horrified at the Iroquois disaster in Chicago. Francis Wilson in speaking the other night of the panic said, according to the Chicago Record-Herald: "I suppose similar scenes always will follow a sudden rush in any building crowded with men and women, but I feel strongly that theater buildings could be improved so as to reduce the danger in a stampede to a minimum. It is my opinion that there should not be a single step in a theater. The descents should be gentle inclines. That this is possible is shown by the construction of a new theater in Pittsburgh, where even the gallery is reached by inclines."

It is the thought of the many stairways that must be passed quickly and possibly in darkness that drives the occupants of the galleries to panic at an alarm. If they were sure of a clear pathway straight to the street half their fear would be allayed. In doing away with steps in the auditorium of theaters the builders should not forget the actors."

Here Canvases Show Will Be Worth Town's Greeting to Mrs. Langtry. Lily Langtry got an ovation at Langtry, Tex., while she was en route to the Pacific coast, says an El Paso dispatch. The town was named fourteen years ago in honor of Mrs. Langtry. Twenty-five cowboys and 150 other country folk were at the station to meet the train, and a special of welcome was made by the daughter of a prominent cattleman. Mrs. Langtry received a gift of a live antelope in a silver alligator cage, a black bear, a span of mules and a six shooter. She declined the mules, but the bear will be sent to her farm in California. The antelope and the six shooter she took with her.

For Future Nat Enterters. This season's crop of nuts, chestnuts, beechnuts, walnuts, butternuts, etc., will possibly not rise above the average, but the yield of the future promise to be much greater, says the Boston Advertiser. During the past two years many farmers in the western part of Massachusetts have been getting out orchards of certain varieties of European chestnuts. Not only do they bear more quickly, but more prolifically than any known American variety. When the orchards once begin their yield the nut harvest in this state will be of considerable proportions, whereas in the past agricultural interests have paid little attention to it.

NEWSPAPER FOR CRANKS.

"Take Nothing For Granted" Is New Publication's Motto.

On Jan. 1 No. 1 volume 1 of the Crank, described as "the unconventional magazine," was published in London at the not altogether unconventional price of threepence, says a cable dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean.

According to the promoters, it is to be the organ of all people who think for themselves. There is, however, an important reservation. Readers and contributors must think in a manner which is thoroughly consistent with genuine social progress. Hopes are entertained that the circulation will eventually reach 50,000 or 60,000 copies.

The new magazine will appeal more directly to the following sections: Vegetarians, socialists, anarchists, passive resisters, Tolstoists, "higher thinkers," spiritualists, theosophists, Quakers, antirationalists.

The aims and objects of the new journal were explained by the editor, Miss F. E. Warland, a young lady, who, in a little, unpretentious office in a narrow street off Ludgate hill, is busily engaged in asserting the deluge of "crank" literature.

"The magazine," she declared, "has for its definition the witty sayings of Henry George, 'A little thing that makes revolutions,' and for its motto, 'Take nothing for granted.' We are opposed to crystallization and stand for fluidity. In brief, we desire to restore the term 'crank' as a definition of a wise thinking person. Our policy will be to advance from materialism toward something better. We would like to see the world conducted upon the principle of real love."

There will be no lack of "crank" contributions to this "crank" journal. The most extraordinary of all "cranks" who will contribute to the new journal is a doctor of philosophy who firmly refuses to handle or deal in money and manages to live upon what he calls the service and good will of other people. He possesses a cottage in the country, but seldom occupies it, preferring to sleep out in the open air, with only a blanket for a covering.

BLOWS TO CURE HYSTERIA.

Hasband Says Physician Ordered Such Treatment For Wife.

Whenever Howard D. Flint of Syracuse, N. Y., struck his handsome young wife he did it solely for the purpose of bringing her out of a spell of hysterics.

This is the defense to a charge of cruelty outlined by Flint's attorney at the hearing before Referee A. J. Northrup in the separation and alimony suit brought by Alice Molinoux, Flint against Howard D. Flint, her husband. The striking treatment, Flint declares, was ordered by a physician, whose advice he followed. The Flint has been married three years.

The "Dog Wagon" in London.

London by night is shortly to have a unique attraction in the shape of an elegant traveling restaurant, which will permeate the street for the benefit of those who desire refreshment better than that provided at the ordinary coffee stall, says the London Mail. The traveling restaurant consists of a lavishly ornamented van some twenty feet long by six in width, with a doorway at the side, to which the customer ascends from the street by a miniature flight of steps. Colored glass panels bearing allegorical designs form the windows round the sides, and the back of the car bears in large letters the announcement, "Night lunch," which gives sufficient indication of the American origin of the new departure.

Fair Hated Tribe in Mexico.

Dr. William Bauer, the German ethnologist who has been studying the southern tribes in the interior of Mexico for the Royal Museum of Ethnology of Berlin, has compiled an interesting and remarkably complete vocabulary of languages spoken by the different tribes, says a City of Mexico dispatch to the New York Press. The Zapotecan vocabulary is 3,000 words, the fullest yet obtained. One of the most interesting tribes is the Miseres, composing some 20,000 persons, among whom are many fair haired and light skinned people. Tradition recounts that they are descended from the Teutons of Europe. The race is quite distinct from any other of the Mexican Indians and is noted for its physical strength.

MURDER SCHOOL IN ITALY.

Graduates Wore Uniforms and Styled Themselves Malavita.

As an instance of the way secret societies like the Mafia are organized in southern Italy it is worth reporting that the Italian police recently arrested seventy-one persons, all members of a secret organization called the Malavita in the city of Foggia, says the Rome correspondent of the New York World.

It was discovered that the society was organized to commit all sorts of crimes, from highway robbery to kidnapping. Two schools were found, one to teach the way to use the knife and the other for pickpockets. An admission fee of a few francs was charged, and the members were divided into three classes and promoted from one to the other by a sort of supreme court, with headquarters at Barletta.

The distinctive uniforms of the members consisted of a red scarf to be worn as a belt and a long curl hanging down the forehead or a green scarf for those of a lower degree in the society. If any one of the members was arrested other members volunteered to give perjured testimony in his behalf, while a few more took charge of the witnesses for the prosecution, whom they scared by threats into refusing to testify. A special recruiting department was also a feature of the society.

RADIUM DEAD TO MICE.

Touched by a Tube of It, They Are Paralyzed and Soon Die.

Dr. Roux of the Pasteur Institute in Paris has been superintending some interesting experiments showing the effect radium has on mice, says the New York World's correspondent. The little creatures become paralyzed the instant a tube containing radium touches their bodies, and continued application results in death.

Dr. Denicz, who made the experiments, said:

"We shut mice in a cage and suspended a tube of eight centimeters above them. In fourteen hours the mice lost all their hair, which grew again a few days afterward, but entirely different in color. Twenty days later symptoms of paralysis appeared, and death followed shortly. An

After an illness of only a few days Mrs. L. W. Mounts died at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bel in Jacksonville Wednesday morning. She was one of the best known and most highly respected residents of Jacksonville.

Elizabeth Phillips Davis was born in Greyson county, Ky., Feb. 13, 1825, hence at the time of her death she was aged 78 years and 11 months. She was united in marriage to Leander W. Mounts in Louisville, Ky., May 30, 1854, and two years later came with her husband to Jacksonville, settling first in Fayette, Greene county, and a year later going to Jacksonville, which has since been her home.

Died, at her home in St. Louis, Mo., Miss Lillie Sona, Jan. 13, 1904. The remains will be brought here to day on the 11:40 train. The interment will be in Jacksonville cemetery.

ROBERTS.

Word has been received by N. Z. Roberts, of this city, of the sudden death of Dermont C. Roberts Jan. 2 of acute pneumonia at his late residence, 609 South Olive street, Los Angeles, Cal. Some years ago Mr. Roberts learned his trade of watchmaker of J. W. King in this city and will be remembered by many. He served during the civil war as captain of the Thirty-third Illinois volunteer infantry.

Joint Installation. A joint installation of the officers of Jacksonville lodge 152 and Favorite lodge 376, Knights of Pythias, was held last night at the K. of P. hall. More than a hundred Pythians were in attendance and the exercises were of great interest. Deputy Robert Tilton was the installing officer. After these impressive ceremonies an elaborate banquet was served. Later George L. Merrill was introduced as toastmaster and an excellent program was carried out. Among those who spoke were John Catherwood and Arthur Taylor, the chancellor commanders; Senator O'Neal, of Lincoln, Neb., a supreme representative of the order; Robert Tilton, H. B. Samuel, and Mr. Thorne. The responses were all eloquent and teamed with wit and humor. The arrangements were in charge of Messrs. John Silbert, H. L. Smith and J. F. Claus, and everything was well managed.

POLICE NEWS.

Two men giving their names as Isaac and James Williamson were arrested last night by Captain Kennedy on suspicion. The men were unable to give a satisfactory explanation as to their business here. They had in their possession when arrested about 200 yards of lace and $140 in money.

The prevention of consumption is entirely a question of commencing the proper treatment in time. Nothing is so well adapted to ward off fatal lung troubles as Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

MASQUERADE BALL.

A successful masquerade was given at Turner hall last night. The affair was well attended and the management overlooked nothing for the pleasure of their guests. Music was furnished by Eckels' orchestra and the program was greatly enjoyed. The committee of arrangements consisted of Fred Batz, F. Schmalz, H. Brune, Charles Meade, John Ricks and Charles Bedele.

Seed Adulteration.

The seed investigations of the department of agriculture have shown that large quantities of trefoil and other practically worthless seed are being imported for the adulteration of alfalfa and other seeds. About 450,000 pounds of Canadian blue grass seed are imported, the chief use of which is to adulterate the higher priced Kentucky grass seed.

Warm Water For Cows.

At the Wisconsin experiment station it was found that cows given warm water drank eight to ten pounds more per day than when supplied with cold. In one trial cows given warm water produced 6 per cent more milk than those given cold, while in another trial the difference was only 1 per cent in favor of warm water.

PHYSICIANS GATHERED

ing and it is our fault that the well-paid clergy does not pay the doctor for his services just the same as he pays the grocer. If a doctor has charity to dispense let him expend it upon the widow, the orphan and the poor laborer, and not on the clergy.

"Organization in the medical profession means helpfulness for individual members of the profession. It means a post-graduate school for the practitioner possible no other way. Relief to the average family must come if it comes at all through the family physician and the welfare of the community demands this superior knowledge from the profession no matter where located.

"United, educated and ennobled the physician is the greatest power that exists for the elevation of the human race."

At the conclusion of this pertinent address Dr. McCormack was loudly applauded, and upon motion of Dr. David Reid a hearty vote of thanks was extended.

Dr. Norbury then introduced Dr. Hugh T. Patrick, of Chicago, a member of the medical faculty of Northwestern university, who spoke upon the subject, "Diagnosis of Hysteria." His remarks were of a decidedly technical nature, but the eminent place he occupies in the medical profession made his address heeded with peculiar interest and he was given the closest attention. Owing to the lateness of the hour he announced he would make his remarks along clinical rather than diagnostic lines and he cited four cases of hysteria that had resulted in paraplegic conditions, all caused from accidents of various kinds. One was the case of a physician 36 years of age, who fell through a hay mow, striking his spine in the mangle below. Paraplegia developed to such an extent that the physician, although continuing his practice, had to be carried to and from his patients. After fifteen months in this condition he came to Chicago and I was called upon to make the localization. To be brief, the case developed to be one of traumatic hysteria and within five weeks from the time the physician came to Chicago he had apparently recovered and walked without assistance of even a cane. Other cases were cited and especial emphasis was laid on time as being an essential in the treatment of all cases of hysteria.

The address was a masterful presentation of the subject in hand and the applause that followed its conclusion was indicative of the appreciation with which it was received. On motion of Dr. George N. Kreider, of Springfield, a vote of thanks was extended on behalf of the association. This concluded the banquet and the formal program of the day, which had been of an intensely interesting, suggestive and helpful character.

AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Delightful Meeting of the Art Association—A Study of Egypt

The second of the series of exhibits planned by Miss Seybold, city librarian, was given last evening in the assembly room of the public library. It consisted of fifty excellent prints, furnished by the Horace K. Turner company of Boston, of the wonders of Egypt. Among the most noteworthy were views of the pyramids, sphinx, temple of Denderah, obelisks and columns of Karnak and Luxor, colossi of Thebes, and the ruins on the island of Philae, now alas, in a two-fold sense, among the things of the past. There were also scenes on the Nile, and of modern types of Egyptian humanity.

The association was doubly fortunate in having so fine a collection of pictures to look at and discuss, and in being privileged to listen to the exposition thereof by Dr. Sherzer who to her wide range of general information, added the vividness of personal experience. She had made the acquaintance of the amiable, touchy and intelligent Egyptian donkey and the sedate and regal camel; she had sailed up the winding, capricious Nile in a dahabieh and a steamer; had gazed with awe upon the broad plain of Luxor, silent and deserted, a field of ruins, motionless, majestic in their decay; had traversed the mysterious avenues of Karnak, amid fragments of fallen temples, crumbling walls, and broken columns; and had clambered to the summit of the great pyramid, and explored its gloomy depths, the tomb of ancient monarchs.

The account of the last adventure was especially graphic, and entertaining, while the story of wet weather days in an Egyptian village and the description of sights and scenes in Cairo, were replete with evidences of keen observation. Dr. Sherzer has the gift of seizing upon the piquant points in nature and art and presenting them in a most attractive way. She combines with very serious information a judicious amount of humor which makes her talks most lively and charming, and her portrayal of traits in human character is always effective.

A paper prepared by Mrs. M. D. Donn was read by Miss Seybold, giving many interesting details concerning the ruins of Karnak, Luxor and other localities. This showed much research.

Mr. Gates Strawn presided and Miss Knopf acted as secretary, the regular officers being unavoidably absent. The audience was large and the meeting was one of the most pleasant affairs of the season.
